Virginia Museum of the Civil War

Interpreting the Battle of New Market

The museum provides opportunities to reflect upon the Battle of New Market which raged just outside on May 15, 1864. Students from the Virginia Military Institute as young as 15 years old fought in the battle.

The Virginia Museum of the Civil War presents exhibits on the entire Civil War with special emphasis on the war in Virginia. The signature engagement is the Battle of New Market, where 257 cadets from the Virginia Military Institute played a major role.

In 1864 the Bushong Farm's fertile wheat fields became a battleground. Three generations of the family took shelter in the cellar of the main house as the VMI Cadets literally ran around their home and into the orchard.

EDINBURG A friendly little town in the heart of Shenandoah County

Dedicated to the preservation of its old-time appearance and small-town charm, the town of Edinburg is truly like a step back in time. Although it was not incorporated until 1852, Edinburg was an active crossroads town as early as the late 18th century. The local iron industry led to mills established to supply the furnaces and meet the needs of local farmers. A number of grist mills were built in the area with the largest being the Edinburg Mill located at Stony Creek right along the Old Valley Pike, Route 11, which serves as Edinburg's Main Street. The Shenandoah Cultural Heritage Museum and Visitors Center is currently housed at the Mill along with the Edinburg Mill Restaurant and Heritage Mill Wines 1848.

Built in 1848, the Edinburg Mill was one of the few mills to survive "The Burning" that devastated the Valley during the Civil War. Saved by the Town's residents, it continued as a working mill until 1979 when it was converted into a restaurant. This new use continued until 1998 when the Mill once again was threatened as it sat vacant with its future unknown. The Town of Edinburg partnered with the Edinburg Heritage Foundation to purchase the property and once again the residents were able to save the Mill.

While the Civil War was devastating to Edinburg and the Madison District, the area returned to pre-war activity and people prospered. Because of modern transportation and better jobs elsewhere, the area began to change from commercial and farm activity in the second half of the 20th century; with many tourist attractions and small shops catering to arts and crafts as well as outdoor activities such as canoeing and fly fishing.

Edinburg really comes to life the 3rd Friday evening of September, as the annual Ole Time Festival begins. The fun filled weekend features crafters and artists, foodstands, children's festival, a parade on Saturday, non-stop music, a 4K Fun Run, antique autos and tractors, Friday night street dance, community sing-a-long, old-timers baseball game, a Bed Race, a Duck Race and more.

The Edinburg Mill, which served the area from 1848-1979 as an active mill now has become a new tourist attraction, housing a visitor center, museum and shops.

Meem's Bottom Bridge

One of the best-known covered bridges is the 204-foot single-span Burr arch truss known as Meem's Bottom Covered Bridge in Mount Jackson. The Meem's Bottom Bridge was constructed in 1892-93 from materials cut and quarried nearby for the massive arch supports and stone abutments, which extended 10 feet below the riverbed. It was deeded to the Highway Department in the 1930's in return for assuming its maintenance.

This long span over the North Fork of the river carried traffic for more than 80 years before being burned by vandals on Halloween 1976. After salvaging the original timbers, the bridge was reconstructed and eventually undergirded with steel beams and concrete piers. The bridge was reopened to traffic in 1979 and is still in operation to date.

From the moment we dropped our first batch of chips back in the early days of 1992, we understood our destiny as a high quality producer. Instead of succumbing to the frenzy of mass production, we took advantage of our small size and made chipping our personal art form. The payoff was immediate: an incredible potato chip!

Our factory is open to the public Mondays – Saturdays, 9am-5pm. We are closed on major holidays.

Take I-81 exit 269, go toward Shenandoah Caverns, right on Industrial Rd., ½ mile.

Dayton is a small town located in the center of the Shenandoah Valley, two miles south of Harrisonburg along Route 42, and is one of the oldest settled communities in Rockingham County, and the County's second oldest incorporated town. Home to about 1,500 people, Dayton is surrounded by prime agricultural farmland, mostly owned by members of the Old Order Mennonite community. With working farms and open spaces, traveling through Dayton and the surrounding area is a step back to an earlier time where horse-drawn buggies remain a common form of travel on rural roads throughout the community. Visit www.daytonva.us for more information.

Bridgewater

The town of Bridgewater has always been one of the most prosperous towns in Rockingham County with businesses focusing primarily on Main Street. The shops are located among the closely packed mid nineteenth-century dwellings and buildings cloaked with rich Victorian decoration typical of the Valley's turnpike towns. With few major intrusions in the older part of town, Bridgewater Historic District exhibits the charm and character of the town at the turn of the century. Bridgewater is rich in Mennonite culture and horse-drawn buggies can often be seen both in town and on the country roads nearby.

Bridgewater is home of Bridgewater College that offers a quiet, safe and charming environment in which to learn. Students are surrounded by historical attractions including famous caverns and significant Civil War battlefields, and in an area known for its local artisans, music festivals, resorts, museums and dining.

The friendly merchants invite you to shop with them while visiting Bridgewater and enjoy the summer programs and activities as well as taking a leisurely stroll through the town's history.

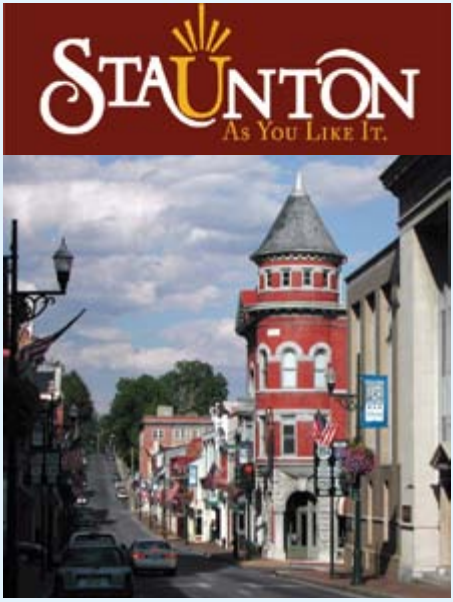
Hearing from volunteers who feel fulfilled by and connected to our mission is always music to our ears.



The historic city of Staunton is conveniently located in the heart of the beautiful Shenandoah Valley between the Blue Ridge and the Allegheny Mountains is a must for every visitor to Virginia.

A guided or self-guided walking tour through five National Historic Districts will transport you through Staunton's 250-year heritage. Staunton has one architectural advantage over most of other small towns in the Shenandoah Valley: it was unscathed in the Civil War, and many of its 18th and early 19th century homes and buildings still stand and are wonderfully preserved. There are more than sixty shops and twenty restaurants packed into the architecturally-rich and compact downtown. This compact urban area still retains its l9th-century charm and "Main Street" ambience. Although Staunton was founded in 1747, most of the buildings date from the "boom" years between 1860 and 1920. Downtown Staunton, one of Virginia's finest collections of Victorian era architecture.

Relax and unwind at a hospitable hotel, Inn or Bed and Breakfast. Staunton's historic charm and warm hospitality will make your visit an unforgettable excursion into America's past.

Staunton's Historic Attractions & Museums

Armed with a Historic Staunton Foundation Walking Tour map, Staunton is best explored by foot. The visitor can stroll leisurely into the past surrounded by examples of Greek Revival, Gothic Revival, Italianate, Chateauesque, Queen Anne, and Georgian Revival architecture.

On Beverley Street in the city center stands Trinity Episcopal Church surrounded by its colonial graveyard. The first Augusta Parish Church was built on this site in 1763. The present church, a distinguished example of early Gothic Revival architecture, was begun in 1855.

Staunton is the home of the Frontier Culture Museum, an international living history facility depicting working farms and traditional cultures of 17th, 18th, and 19th century England, Germany, Northern Ireland, and America, and the birthplace of the nation's 28th President. The beautiful Woodrow Wilson Birthplace and research library, overlooking the old town is open year round for tours. Enjoy a night of theater at the Blackfriars Playhouse, the only re-creation in the world of Shakespeare's legendary indoor theatre. Also an art lover should not miss the gallery of the Staunton Augusta Fine Arts Center at the R. R. Smith Center for History & Art.

The Gypsy Hill Park is a major attraction with golf course, Lake Tams, duck pond, bandstand for free Monday night concerts by the Stonewall Brigade Band in the summer, and ballpark that is home to the Staunton Braves. Staunton is a shopper's delight, too. Award-winning restorations of Victorian storefronts in the Beverley and Wharf Historic Districts now house shops for antiques, crafts, gifts, books, gourmet foods, specialty clothing, and much more.

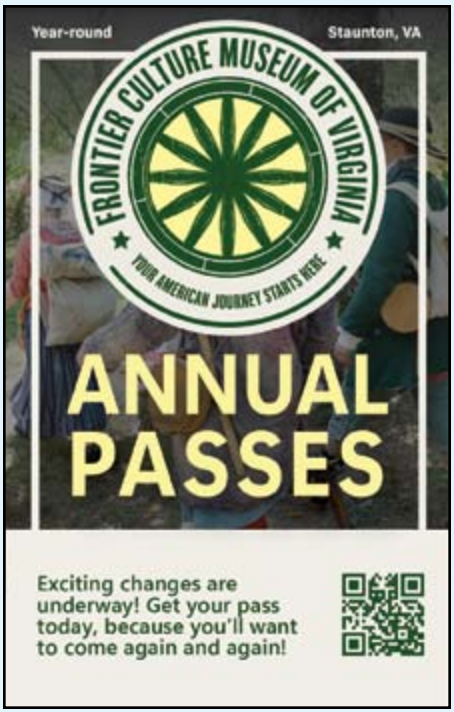
Staunton Fire Department Museum

The Staunton Fire and Rescue Department, founded in 1790, is the oldest continuously operated fire company in the state, with over 225 years of tradition. All are welcome to come see "Jumbo", the oldest motorized fire engine in Virginia and the only extant 1911 Robinson chemical fire truck. It is housed in a museum (founded 1982) located inside the modern station at 500 North Augusta Street. Also on display are items relating to fire fighting, some going back to the Civil War. Admission is free.

Historic Wharf District

The area of Staunton surrounding the railroad station is known as The Wharf, a curious name for a neighborhood that is nowhere near a wharf. In fact, the name is an historical one dating to the 19th century. The warehouses in this neighborhood reminded people of buildings that you might see along a wharf. In Staunton's case, the railroad acts in same manner as a wharf, and in fact, the neighborhood's old warehouses really do look like those that one might see along the waterfront of a port city.

The Wharf Historic District harks to the days when the railroad changed Staunton from a rural village to a center of commerce. Since 1972 the Wharf Historic District has been on the National Register of Historic Places, and its depot and other preserved buildings houses restaurants, antique shops and specialty boutiques.



Waynesboro

Where Good Nature Comes Naturally

Located in the foothills of the Blue Ridge Mountains near the intersecting point of the Skyline Drive and the Blue Ridge Parkway, Waynesboro welcomes travelers to the Shenandoah Valley with a warm hospitality.

Established in 1797, the town was named for General Anthony Wayne, a hero of the Revolutionary War, but it was in the Civil War that Waynesboro distinguished itself. Stop by The Plumb House Museum for information on a history of the Battle of Waynesboro, fought nearby in 1865 during the American Civil War. Also, you'll want to visit the Waynesboro Heritage Museum at the corner of Main Street & Wayne Avenue. The museum has a wonderful collection of pictures, photographs, antiques, collectibles, and Valley Native American artifacts. A short walk will take you to the Shenandoah Valley Art Center, Fishburne Military School, P. Buckley Moss Art Gallery, and the Wayne Theatre in historic downtown.

Because of Waynesboro's beautiful location, there are a variety of recreational activities to enjoy: Fishing, hunting, camping, hiking, golf, horseback riding, swimming, canoeing, and skiing. Each year, Waynesboro plays host to several annual events including the Virginia Fall Foliage Festival and Art Show, the Virginia Chili, Blues n' Brews Festival, and the Wings Over Waynesboro event located at the new Sunset Park. Waynesboro is also known for its Run the Valley race series and numerous live outdoor music offerings throughout the summer months.

Come play & stay, wine & dine, and enjoy the many outdoor opportunities in Waynesboro

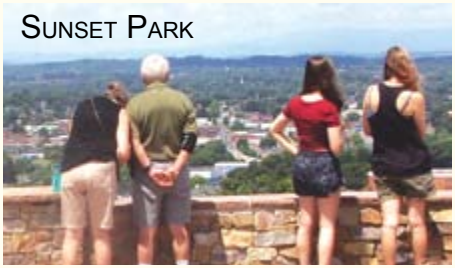
Waynesboro Parks

Waynesboro Parks & Recreation operates a large park system which includes 7 parks and a number of facilities including a community center, pool, 1.2 miles of greenway, 4 miles of water trail, 9-hole disc golf course, soccer fields, diamonds, tennis courts, playgrounds, shelters, and trails. Numerous projects are also at various stages of conception and completion which will improve access and opportunities for all residents and visitors to our community. Parks are open to the public from dawn to dusk every day of the year with few exceptions. 540-942-6735.



Over 10 years of planning, 14 months to construct, Waynesboro's brand-new Sunset Park is now open. Sunset Park will be the first park in Waynesboro designed to be open past sunset. We have installed lighting to guide you safely back to your car after capturing the perfect summer sunset. In addition, there is dim lighting at the overlooks that are designed to not spoil the ambiance of the beautiful glow from downtown. Finally, the pavilion has colored lights that can be changed with the seasons or customized for an evening event. Sunset Park will be open from 6am-10pm. South River's 4-Mile Run

Waynesboro offers a unique setting for paddlers since the leisurely South River winds right through the city. As the river meanders through Waynesboro, it flows north past city neighborhoods, streets, parks, and downtown. Paddle this route and you will see; it links them all. This is the Waynesboro Water Trail, a portion of the greater South River Blueway. As you float the river's gentle current you will experience Waynesboro as never before. There are times on this short journey when you lose yourself in the feeling of wilderness, if not for the sound of a passing train pulling you back to the city beyond the river's edge. History and industry peek out from the shoreline, hinting at the foundation on which the city was built.

Put in at Ridgeview Park and paddle the river for a four-mile run to Basic Park, or shorten that journey by using any of the several access points along the way. You will experience a one-of-a-kind perspective on this charming city.

The McCormick Farm, also known as Walnut Grove, was the family farm of Cyrus Hall McCormick, who improved and patented the mechanical reaper and "brought about the greatest revolution in farming since the invention of the plow." From a meager beginning in a small blacksmith shop in Steeles Tavern evolved a company that would grow to become one of the world's manufacturing giants, the International Harvester Company. A restored blacksmith shop, gristmill and musuem are open to the public and provide a look at McCormick the man and his invention. Hours are 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. daily; admission is free. Stonewall Jackson House

Discover the man who became a legend. The Stonewall Jackson House in historic downtown Lexington is the only home that the famous Confederate General Thomas "Stonewall" Jackson ever owned.

Jackson and his second wife, Mary Anna Morrison, lived in the brick and stone house before the Civil War. Tours of the house focus on Jackson's civilian life as a professor, church leader, businessman, and husband.

Today, and every day, VMI honors the sacrifice of the brave members of the armed forces who died on the field of honor, giving their lives in service to a cause greater than themselves. In particular, we reflect on the nearly 600 alumni who answered the call and are forever remembered in our hearts. It is with pride that the faces of some of these brave individuals can now be seen around post.

Lexington

Lexington's historic past has been so well preserved that it offers visitors a step back in time.

Included in the history of Lexington is a deep regard for education. It is the home to Washington & Lee University and Virginia Military Institute.

The Stonewall Jackson House has been restored and refurbished with many of his possessions to become a museum of his life. Tours are available daily.

The Lee Chapel and Museum is located on the campus of Washington & Lee University. Built in 1867, it contains the family crypt, many personal belongings, and Lee's office, preserved as he left it in 1870.

The George C. Marshall Museum and library is another popular attraction. The museum contains photomurals and numerous artifacts which are employed in depicting the life and times of General Marshall.

The Virginia Military Institute Museum has Stonewall Jackson's horse, Little Sorrell, on display. It also highlights such VMI professors and alumni as Stonewall Jackson, Mathew Fontaine Maury, and George C. Marshall.

The Stonewall Jackson Memorial Cemetery is the site of a statue portraying General Jackson, done by Edward Valentine. Jackson himself, members of his family, a number of Lexington's leading statesmen, and more than 100 Confederate soldiers are buried in these walls.

Accommodations are plentiful so visit here and enjoy a step back in time.

Museums and Attractions

The Stonewall Jackson House has been refurbished with his possessions to become a museum of his life. There is also a restored garden and a gift shop.

Chessie Nature Trail

The Chessie Nature Trail parallels the Maury River, connecting Lexington and Buena Vista. A 7-mile rail-trail, the Chessie's path is comprised of a portion of the old Chesapeake & Ohio Railroad bed as well as canal towpaths and boat lochs. It's the perfect place to hike and run because it's easily accessible while also boasting abundant natural beauty.

The trail hugs the Maury as it flows eastward, streaming under bridges, beside old warehouses and past pastures and homes and what's left of the canal system. Wooden benches along the way offer places to stop and rest and enjoy the peace.

HORSIN' AROUND

Whether you'd like to pay tribute to a couple of famous horses or you'd like to see some world-class horse events, Lexington is the place to visit. Robert E. Lee's horse Traveller is buried right outside the Lee Chapel and Museum. You may even see oats and pennies on his gravesite left by admirers. Little Sorrell, Stonewall Jackson's war horse is mounted in the VMI Museum. The Virginia Horse Center, located in Lexington hosted such shows as the World Percheron Congress, the Bonnie Blue National Horse Show, and the USPC Championships in 2002.

Buena Vista

Situated between the natural beauty of the Blue Ridge Mountains, the Alleghany Mountains, and the Maury River is the City of Buena Vista. If your expectations include commanding views and a relaxing atmosphere, you won't be disappointed. But you can expect a lot more…A vibrant business community, fantastic events, and an abundance of recreational opportunity already exist in Buena Vista. But we are working hard everyday to make Buena Vista an even better place to own a business, make a home, or take a weekend trip. Take a look around and we are sure that you'll agree that good views are just the beginning.

With access to natural areas near by such as the Appalachian Trail, the Blue Ridge Parkway, and over 58,000 acres of National Forest, there is no shortage of opportunity for exploration in the open air. In addition to the great outdoors, Buena Vista offers developed recreational areas. Glen Maury Park consists of 315 acres of scenic, level and rolling land, and is owned and operated by the City of Buena Vista. There are many activities and events held throughout the year at the park. The Vista Links provides an 18-hole, par-72 executive golf course developed by Rick Jacobson featuring all the amenities.

Take your pick... from golfing to hiking and tubing to biking, or just sightseeing, Buena Vista has something for the whole family to enjoy.

Southern Virginia University's Main Hall is the second "grand hotel" built on the hill overlooking the town of Buena Vista. It was built in 1891, after the first hotel on the site was destroyed by fire in July of 1890. Today it is the last surviving Shenandoah Valley "boom" hotel from the 1890s period. It is a Virginia Historic Landmark and is listed on the National Register of Historic Buildings.

Natural Bridge

Natural Bridge, one of nature's unbelievable geological formations, is a awe inspiring sight in the daytime. Under the bridge, after dark, the bridge is illuminated the last Saturday of every month from April to October without music, allowing nature to be the soundtrack for the visitors experience. The illumination is actually historic to the first time it was lite up in 1927.

Along the pathway under the bridge you'll see 1,000 year old Arbor Vitae trees, Lace Waterfalls, Lost River, and Salt Peter Mine. Take a leisurely stroll beyond the bridge on our oldest and most well-known trail. The trail begins at Cascade Falls near the Trail Store where hikers can get refreshments like ice cream, sodas and water. Souvenirs are available in the small gift shop now known as the Cedar Creek Pavilion.
